Catarrhal Deafness Cannot Be Cured
by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure catarrhal deafness, and that is by a constitutional remedy. Catarrhal Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result. Unless the inflammation can be reduced and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Many cases of deafness are caused by catarrh, which is an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces. Hall's Catarrh Medicine acts thru the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system.
We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Catarrhal Deafness that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Medicine. Circulars free. All Druggists. The

Garden Notes

Unless Triumph potatoes are planted during July there is not much chance for a crop, unless you use cold storage seed, and they are mighty expensive now, around $8 per bushel. To the end of July we would plant seed grown the past spring, if well matured, plant deep, cover deep and keep soil well worked and you are pretty sure of a stand and of a crop, but we would not risk it after August 1.

Turnips planted last week, according to our suggestion, are up now and in condition to make an early crop. We have a good stand. More will be planted about September 1.

We are planting the last of this week another planting of corn for roasting ears and running beans with it. We have been eating both every day for two months and don't propose to be without a day till after frost. We will make one more planting in about two weeks and take chances with frost. We may lose it to the frost, but if we do, not much is lost, and if frost is late we will gain just that much.

Next month a full fall garden can be planted, beets, lettuce, radishes, green peas, carrots, mustard, and all the things that are planted for the first early garden in the spring. These grow as well in the cool fall as in the early spring.

The sweet potato planting season is about over for this year and it appears that a large planting was made throughout the section and the crop is in fine condition and the early ones most ready to eat.

Gardeners planting cabbage this late in the season should use an early quick growing variety. The late varieties take too long to grow to be used for late plantings.

The Farmer and the Road Law

The farmers of Tennessee form 80% of its population. If they could be induced to act together they would be industrially and politically irresistible. But unfortunately for them they insist upon acting individually and in practice resolutely set themselves against collective bargaining. All other trades and professions can combine and secure remedial legislation. Our legislatures have given protection to all other professions. The squirrels, the birds, even the fish have all had their proper share of protective legislation, but the farmer and the rabbit are never out of season, they are a awful game all the year round.

Farmers grumble and complain but refuse to take the necessary steps to make their complaints effective. Class legislation should be rarely indulged in but every class has a right to insist upon receiving its proper share of recognition when such favors are going. To the farmers the two most vital questions are roads and schools. Country life is unbearable unless the roads are in at least a passable condition, and no right-thinking man will live where his child cannot receive an education, yet the farmer hardly has a voice in road laws or in school laws. This of course is his fault. He simply stands back and lets "George do it." As a result he gets such lemons as our present road law wished on him.

This law places the road funds of each district in the hands of a Highway Commission with no limitation on how or where it is to be spent. The taxes of number six can be and have been taken by these authorities and spent entirely out of the district. In order that each district may have a small fund to spend on its own imperative needs this law graciously places a wheel tax on the broad shouldered agriculturist and allows this to remain to the credit of the district. Having taken the hide it permits the tail to stay at home provided the people will perpetuate this special form of double taxation.

Under this law the County Court appoints three of its own members Commissioners. These Commissioners elect the Chairman of the County Court their secretary at a salary of $300 per year. The Chairman has a right to appoint the members if any vacancies occur. They can reelect the Chairman Secretary and thus the charmed circle is complete. Heaven cares for its own.

History tells us that there was once in Tennessee a County Court that declared war and made peace, negotiated or rather attempted to negotiate a treaty with Spain, regulated the currency, raised armies, passed various sumptuary laws and exercised a government more purely absolute than ever flourished on American soil before or since. One thing can be said in its favor, however. It never tried to stop the flow of time and make the present the past. It never heard of a "Nunc pro tunc" process. Joshua made the sun and moon stand still but we have no proof that he ran them backward. He lacked modern ingenuity. If he had been working under our present road law he would probably have acted differently.

In the meanwhile the farmers whose industrial, social, and domestic lives depend upon good roads, true to their tradition of non interference in public affairs, let George do it. Why should we worry over bad roads? By and by, we will have visiting delegations of bankers, politicians, and manufacturers who will paint the beauties and felicities of agricultural life and give us lots of good advice about things they know nothing about.

Let not your hearts be troubled. Taxes are a necessary burden. They should be paid cheerfully and honestly. Then the tax payers have a right to demand that they shall receive a proper return for their money. This present road law has given us the worst roads we have had in ten years. The expense has been enormous. The three men who have acted as Commissioners are men of unquestioned integrity and of undoubted ability. I have state again and again that I did not question their honesty.

They failed in their task because the law is unsuited to our conditions and tractors cannot handle our roads. Tractors can make good roads better but they cannot make bad roads good. This law has been tried and has ignominiously failed. Why hold on to it? What possible objection can honest men have to giving to each district its own road funds? "Shall not a man do as he will with his own?"

Of the $75000 spent in the last fifteen months number 6 has paid or will have to pay $8000. What has she received?

Come and see. We are trying to repair our roads by private effort and private subscription. We cannot even get a road working outfit from the county tho we have trained mechanics to run them who are the equal of any in the county. We have a driver who in France drove a truck under the German fire. Possibly with care he could go over our roads. We ask for justice. By what right are we taxed and receive no return? Under our present law we are helpless.

Macon Club Notes

The Modern Friscilla Club held its last meeting on July 9 at the home of Mrs. Jim Smith. Since the last report the club has given two plays and an ice cream supper in behalf of our Park fund, from which we received a goodly sum. We have not made the expected headway on the park because of shortage of labor, but never the less we have made considerable improvements and have more money in the treasury than we intended as soon as possible.

Corn Without Sugar

It will be wisdom on the part of housekeepers to can the usual amount of fruits and vegetables this year, even if part or all of the fruit must be canned without sugar, according to the United States Department of Agriculture.

From all present indications, sugar will be more abundant next winter, when the fruit will be used on the table, the department says. There will apparently be an increased acreage of both cane and beet sugar this year in the United States, Cuba, and in other countries in the Northern Hemisphere. The rise in the price of sugar has encouraged increased plantings of cane and beets.

Home Demonstration Club Cleans Up Town

The Home Demonstration Club of Lewisburg early in June put on a campaign to clean up the town. A committee was appointed the president of the club to make plans for the campaign. It was given necessary publicity, the cooperation of the city officials was obtained and a suitable dumping place located. Captains were appointed for each block in the town, the captain's duty being to see that everyone in the block knew when the city truck, which was furnished free, would be there. The day that the truck would start was announced and all rubbish was placed at the edge of the street in front of each home where the truck could gather it up without loss of time. The club furnished a helper for loading and hauling which continued for two and three-fourth days. One hundred loads of rubbish were hauled away to the dump and the cost to the club was $6.35. This is a fine piece of work and other home demonstration clubs looking for some way to serve their community would do well to follow this splendid example.
